About Us

Straumann Group is a global leader in dental technology, dedicated to improving patients' lives through innovation, quality, and reliability. Listed on the Swiss Stock Exchange (STMN) and headquartered in Switzerland, we are a pioneering medical device company with a rich heritage of groundbreaking achievements. Our commitment to excellence extends to our employees, patients, and customers, as we address some of science and technology's most significant challenges. Our software centers play a crucial role in developing state-of-the-art dental applications, contributing to the transformation of healthcare and the restoration of confidence in people worldwide.

We are seeking a motivated and enthusiastic C++ Software Developer to join our dynamic team in the Berlin-Adlershof software center. This role is ideal for individuals with a solid foundation in computer science, eager to grow their skills in a cutting-edge environment. You will have the opportunity to contribute to the development of leading dental applications, making a tangible impact on the healthcare industry. The project you will be working on is developing for an embedded system, working closely with the hardware development to enable a smooth experience for users.

Key Responsibilities:

- Engage in software development activities, contributing to the creation and improvement of dental applications.
- Collaborate with a team of experienced developers, learning and applying new technologies and methodologies.
- Participate in the full software development lifecycle, from concept through to deployment, ensuring high-quality standards are met.

Job Requirements

- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science or a related field.
- Proficiency in English (Level B2), enabling effective communication within our international team.
- Experience with C++
- Familiarity with Git
- A strong desire to learn and continuously develop professional skills.
- Ability to work onsite regularly in Berlin
